Student Life

Students participate in the beginning of the year worship night. It's a great way to start off the year right, by worshipping our Lord Jesus Christ.

Students Karla Barber and Kayla Bryant reunite after a long summer apart.

Veronica Kerr and Kelsey Taylor spend some time in the sun.
Michelle Kejr and Kyla Wolkow dress up for Traditions Night.

Beginning of the Year

Jacob Carlson

"I love how you can feel the excitement in the air at the beginning of each year, until the realization hits that with the beginning of the year comes classes."

Dani Denver

"The first week of school was really fun, especially because I still got to see my mother every day!"

James Hall

"I loved all of the events and free time we had at the beginning of the year; I almost forgot that we had to start classes soon."

The beginning of the year is always filled with mixed emotions; mostly excitement but also some anxiety. Students are always excited to meet new classmates and also catch up with old friends. Some students are apprehensive about the idea of starting new classes and the homework that comes with them. The beginning of the year also promises a fun time with NSO (New Student Orientation) groups, enrollment, bowling at K-State Union, worship celebration, bonfire, Faculty/Staff vs. Students softball game, watermelon feed and much, much more. You can often hear students talk about how they wish the "beginning of the year" events could last all year long.

Nicci Scritchfield and Bryan Sammons create a new twist on barn party royalty. Sweating to the oldies with Brittany Baisley.

Barn Party

Joey Montague

"I loved Barn Party because it was an opportunity for students to express themselves in a way that was fun and entertaining."

Zach Burrow

"I really enjoyed getting punched in the face multiple times in the mosh pit."

Justin Baugus

"My favorite part of Barn Party is always the mosh pit."

Every fall the students of MCC scurry around trying to put together just the right outfit for Barn Party. This year was no exception. From the outrageous to the simple, students came decked out in their best costumes. Due to some scheduling issues, Barn Party needed to change locations. Howard and Joann Wilson (Austin and Kylie Rupe's Grandparents) graciously offered up their farm for CPC to take over and plan an amazing evening. Everyone who attended had an amazing evening complete with free food, great music, pie eating contest and many prizes awarded for a variety of costumes.

Winter Banquet

Josh Alspaw

"I enjoyed the unique theme, but most of all loved all of the prizes given away at After Prom."

Kirsten Cranford

"It was an honor, and perfect practice for our wedding."

Karla Barber

"It was my favorite dance I have been to at MCC, and I look forward to many, many more."

Winter Banquet is an event that students look forward to each year. Every year has a different theme, and this year's Winter Banquet theme was "Prom through the Ages." Students came dressed in their best and ready to impress. After a nice dinner, students were awarded with prizes for "Best Dressed," TWIRP week winners, and for this year's prom king and queen, Kris Morrison and Kirsten Cranford. After the awards, students enjoyed a wonderful night filled with dancing and much more. The night was not over after the dance, because we all know that prom is not prom without an after prom. After Prom consisted of inflatables, a cash money machine, and a human foosball game. During After Prom an x-box, Wii, Garmin, luggage, vacuum cleaners, DVDs and many more prizes as well as over three hundred dollars in gift cards and cash from the money machine were handed out. Over all it was a night that most will not forget!

A tradition for Skip Day is the Powder Puff Football game. Kirsten Cranford is taking down Sarah Wenger. The girls had a fun time playing flag football, and the sophomore/senior team once again prevailed.

Jacob Carlson, Bryan Sammons, Paige Mortensen, and Alyssa Strain play Four-Square in the Air.

Clockwise from the top left: President Kevin Ingram, along with Nita Prickett and Genae Denver join the students for a morning worship service. Evan Risinger, Sarah Rhodes, Eric Bolduc, Ireland Spence, Alan Hamer, and Reece Childers cool off in a redneck hot tub. Ethan Hutchcraft leads the devotion to start off Skip Day. Kevin Foster and Alan Hamer go head-to-head during a basketball game. Ben Myers, Ben Svorinic and Maeghan Diehl have fun making a three-person tower.

Skip Day

Julia Neubert

Sierra Scott

Alicia Henry

"Skip Day was a blast! I loved how everyone came together as a community and enjoyed the beautiful day."

"It was encouraging to see the staff and students together worshipping, and it was an honor to lead that. These moments help us remember why we are here."

"Getting free Coldstone was great, and it was the only thing I ate."

Skip Day might just be everyone's favorite day of the year. Who wouldn't love a chance to sleep in a little bit and hang out with friends all day? The day started off right with a time of worship and a devotion led by Ethan Hutchcraft. After that, Chris Cakes provided a pancake brunch. Students, faculty, and staff then enjoyed an afternoon full of volleyball, basketball, four square in the air, and an egg toss. Upper Crust treated everyone to a delicious dinner of hamburgers, hot dogs, and brats. For dessert, Coldstone Creamery brought over their portable cart for everyone to enjoy a sweet treat. Of course, Skip Day wouldn't be complete without the annual Powder Puff Football game between the freshmen/junior ladies and sophomore/senior ladies. The sophomore/senior team has been the victor for four years, and once again are the Champions this year.

We love chocolate! Kirsten Cranford and Amanda Harrison have their fruit ready to dip into the popular chocolate fountain.

Spring Banquet

Eric Sanford

Marisa Love

Amanda Harrison

"Spring Banquet is always enjoyable. I loved having the banquet at a brand new location."

"My favorite part of Spring Banquet is getting to see all of my friends looking beautiful! Everyone did a wonderful job planning the event this year."

"I have always enjoyed Spring Banquet, but after planning the event I appreciate all that goes into planning the banquets. I still love Spring Banquet."

The end of the school year is a time to celebrate. One way the students, faculty, and staff do that is by attending Spring Banquet. This year's Spring Banquet was held at the brand new Hilton Garden Inn. Students, faculty, and staff gathered to eat delicious food and an amazing chocolate fountain dessert. CPC asked students to submit videos and asked the faculty and staff present to judge and award a winner. The winning video chosen was the MCC Stuco Execs Dance. After the video, Eric Sanford and President Ingram presented the Spring

Banquet awards. These awards began in 1988 as a way to recognize six outstanding students who are committed to Christ and service to His kingdom, as well as to Christian leadership. The award winners are juniors and seniors only, and they are voted on by the faculty and the Student Life Office. After the awards were handed out, the dancing began. At the end of the night, all left with a smile on their face and many pictures posted on Facebook to remember a great night in their college career.

"We can do it!"

"Here kitty, kitty. I love kittens, and being able to play with them as a service project was so great!"

"It was great to be able to give back to the community in just a small way that meant so much more."

For eight years the Student Development Office has planned Kerusso Dayz: Community for several days during the Fall semester. The purpose of KD: Community is the same as the other Kerusso Dayz...to proclaim God's love to His people but with the focus being on the Manhattan community. The organizations included this year were: Bethlehem Revisited, Boys and Girls Club, Habitat for Humanity, Life Choice Ministries, Manhattan Senior Center, Big Brother/ Big Sisters, Flint Hills Breadbasket, Hope Ranch, and the Manhattan Emergency Shelter. During the five days of service students participated in a variety of projects including: filing papers, cleaning horse stalls, moving railroad ties and parking curbs, sorting and organizing clothes and food, cleaning out summer gardens, stuffing envelopes, and most importantly sharing God's love with His people.

"The trip was a great eye opening experience. It was great to see the people of God and get to spend time with them. I loved every minute!"

"In amazing ways, God used Haiti to humble, convict, and awe me at His presence, beauty, and faithfulness."

"The team did an excellent job and I know that Yves Prophet was very thankful that his alma mater went to help serve at his mission. I will never forget the Haitian people and our experience."

While most students rush home for winter break, seven people had a different idea of how they would spend Christmas break. Six MCC students, along with Eric Sanford, traveled to Haiti to see God's greatness at work. The week was full of incredible ministry opportunities. From playing soccer to handing out Christmas shoeboxes to sharing the Word of God, the MCC gang was a part of it all. Through their translator, they were able to communicate and bond with people that they would never have had the chance to before. The first day in Haiti was nothing short of memorable. This was the day that the MCC students went to distribute the shoe boxes they had brought along. Traveling on roads far from what they were used to really set the tone for the excitement of the adventures that lay ahead of them. Once at the church, there were people crowding around to get a chance at the boxes. Our students were able to show that God's gift is even greater, even more satisfying and exciting. It was a great chance to love on the children and to be examples of God's great love. They played worship at church services, and some were able to experience preaching in front of an unfamiliar crowd. A fun surprise for the kids were light-up bouncy balls on New Year's Eve. At midnight, all the kids were given them and threw them in the air and watched them light up the moment they hit the ground. It was a great way to end a year, and an even better way to start a new one. Throughout the week, friendships were formed even when the people of Haiti were living in a whole different world.

"It was fun to see several different generations of MCC students and alumni serving side by side."

Preston Putthoff

"The trip truly revealed to me what the Holy Spirit was, and how it can affect my life."

Joe Simon

"Oklahoma City was an eye-opening experience for me that has encouraged me to take my faith to a whole new level. God is so alive!"

The first Kerusso Dayz was held October 29-31, 1999, and students, faculty, and staff traveled to St. Louis, MO; Wichita, KS; Perry, KS; Kansas City, MO and Kansas, OK. The Student Council that started Kerusso Dayz had one thing in mind...to proclaim God's love. Today, that is still the goal and purpose of Kerusso Dayz. This year, groups traveled to Salt Lake City, UT; St. Louis, MO and Oklahoma City, OK. While in Oklahoma City, MCC students got to stay with people in The Refuge. The Refuge is a former hotel that now houses 45 people of all ages. These people go out into the worst parts of the city and try to be Christ-like examples. All of them have their own lives and jobs as well, but eventually they move out of The Refuge and into the bad parts of Oklahoma City where they can be a witness. The MCC students did some manual labor, but this week was a lot about community and seeing how The Refuge was cleaning up the streets. The students got the chance to be a part of great fellowship and to see the incredible changes that were taking place in the neighborhood.

"It was really challenging at times, but I learned a lot and grew a ton from this awesome experience with a great group of friends."

It was a blessing to serve alongside the missionaries at World Impact. Being able to experience the faith that they have and seeing how big their hearts are left a huge impact on my life."

"It's an experience I will always cherish because I realized that even though it seemed like a place filled with suffering, it was really just filled with hope."

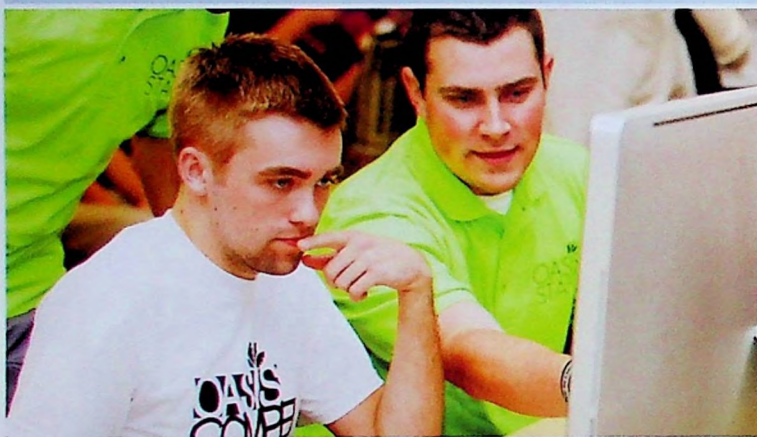

Seven MCC individuals had the opportunity to witness what life is like in a highly Mormon-dominated community. Not only that, they were able to spend time with some of the Christian population through a lock-in. This week was a reminder as to how important knowing the Word of God is. Many of the Mormons are very well read and informed on what they believe, and are willing to take the time to back it up. The goal of the MCC students wasn't to convert or transform anyone overnight. Rather, they wanted to be the seed. They wanted to plant a seed that would maybe someday grow inside them and create a desire to know God more, and to follow the Bible's teachings and to be a part of God's great blessings.

While on spring break, students were able to work side by side with the inner-city missions group World Impact. In the course of the week, the students were able to get involved in a number of ways. One opportunity they had was to teach VBS and work with inner city kids. This was a time to show them God's love and to give them that hope that God has awesome and amazing plans in store for them. The students were also involved in work projects, such as cleaning and sorting through things. In addition, the students helped hold an eyeglass clinic. At this clinic, that was available through the group Focus on Missions, the people of St. Louis were provided with glasses that couldn't otherwise afford them.

"CRU has been so much fun! Getting to talk to possible freshmen next year is encouraging, and working behind the scenes of Admissions is interesting to learn about."

Nick Brown

"The walls in our office cannot contain us...we are the A-Team."

Kylie Rupe

"As a part of Admissions at MCC, I get the chance to talk to high school athletes about sharing their talents with us here at Manhattan Christian College."

Behind every great college, there is a great admissions team doing everything in their power to emphasize the outstanding qualities of the place they are so passionate about. Recruiting students, answering questions, setting up visits, and making MCC one of the best experiences for incoming students are just a few among their long list of responsibilities. Throughout the year, the Admissions team helps with Oasis, CRU, Timothy Days, and so much more. The Admissions staff at MCC is that bright smile and warm welcome to every potential student that walks through the doors. No matter the circumstances, Admissions makes it their job to provide that oh-so-important first impression with a lasting impact. Luckily, MCC can back it up.

"Attending the small group dinner was super fun, especially since the boys did everything. It was nice to just sit back and be treated like a princess."

"Open house was great! The hospitality shown by the staff and faculty was amazing. It was great being able to get to know them better."

"Open house is one of my favorite events of the year. I love the free food! Especially when being off campus with no meal plan."

The Student Development Office is responsible for planning many things around campus. One of those responsibilities include many of the fun activities. Some of the favorite activities are Break Away's. The first Friday of each month the Campus Center fills up around 2:00 in the afternoon with students eager for the free snacks that await them. Break Away is a great way for the entire student body to come together and fellowship with each other and with the faculty and staff. Another highlight of the fall semester is the Residence Halls Christmas decorating contest and the Faculty/Staff Open House. The underclassmen take Christmas decorating very serious. Kenoyer Hall and Johnson Hall transform into many different Christmas scenes and the judges always have a tough time picking the winners. The Christmas Open House is a time to travel around Manhattan stopping at various Faculty and Staff members homes sharing in a plethora of goodies.

"I enjoyed the Upperclassman Open House event. In general, any activity off-campus is a good one."

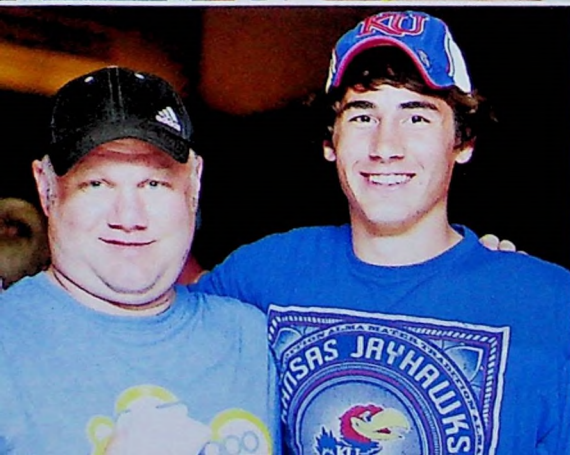

Samuel Field

"Break Away would have to be my favorite event that Student Development puts on. You can't get much better than free food and socializing with your friends."

Tiffany Willbanks

"My favorite activity this year was Skip Day. It gave us all a chance to grow closer through relaxing fellowship as a body of believers."

When the Campus Center begins to fill up with hungry Upperclassmen you can bet there is a party with free food going on. The Student Development office along with the Dining Services staff plan several big parties throughout the year which includes the World Series, Super Bowl, and Final Four. These parties are a great time for the entire student body to come together and fellowship with each other and enjoy some fun sporting events.

Institutional Advancement

Emily Joy Fahey

"MCC NOW is a great way to bring the school together to support one cause and promote unity."

Kevin Ingram

"The MCC Golf classic is a good place to reach out to the MCC community and come together to enjoy some fellowship with one another."

Marisha Boyle

"Women's World is an amazing event to be a part of because you get to meet so many different people and have great fellowship for a weekend."

The Institutional Advancement Office is busy year round doing just what their name says...advancing the institution. They plan and host many events throughout the year to involve the alumni and local businesses. Some of the events include: the golf classic, athletic alumni games, leadership breakfast, MCC Now, and Woman's World. Woman's World is a huge conference that brings several hundred women together for a weekend full of fun, fellowship, and spiritual growth. MCC NOW is a campaign designed to promote unity within the school and its alumni by raising funds for one cause. Past campaigns have purchased furniture for Joliffe Hall and the Campus Center. This years donations went towards the purchase of furniture for the lobby of Coffin Hall.

Chapel

Zach DeLoach

"Chapel is a nice time for one to refocus their week on the Jesus as God and not Jesus as their homework."

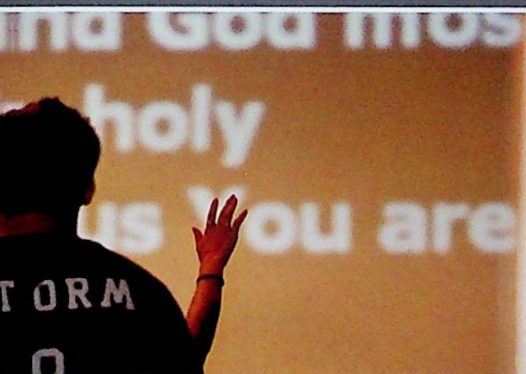

Jordan Scanlan

"Chapel is a time when students have the privilege of leading their peers to express their passion, knowledge, and love through praise, and not just in their papers."

Kalyn Waller

"Chapel is a great time for students, faculty, and staff to come together to worship God as a whole body."

As a way of emphasizing the year's theme "BE," numerous speakers demonstrated ways of implementing this statement in the everyday lives of students through their messages at chapel. Mr. Yves Prophete, a missionary in Haiti, spoke of the importance of "BEing Bright". Other speakers delivered messages on areas of individual expertise such as Old Testament Theology by Dr. Paddock and Rusty Thornley's presentation on cross cultural ministries. In addition to beneficial sermons, Thursday morning chapel worship completes the experience. Student worship teams get together each week to provide contemporary music for all to enjoy. Students, faculty, staff, and guest speakers all work together to make chapel a success each week. Students read scripture and various faculty and staff read passages and pray over the offering. Chapel services are not just available to students at MCC, but also through MCC Network, the chapel services are recorded and then available to be viewed online so friends and family can see just what Manhattan Christian College has to offer.

Veronica Kerr

"Life in Kenoyer is crazy! I am always entertained, having awesome conversations, and feeling loved!"

Kaitlyn Black

"Life in Kenoyer is like living in a circus. You're surrounded by a bunch of weirdos, but you'll never get bored. Ever."

"I was ready to start college and live in the dorms. I wanted to experience living with new people and meeting different friends," says Julia Neubert. That is what life in Kenoyer Hall is all about. Moving into Kenoyer Hall meant meeting the new Residence Hall Supervisor, new Resident Assistants and really getting to know the people we would be doing life with on a daily basis. Life quickly got started when classes began and everyone found out what it was like as a college student. "I liked sitting in a class room for eight hours a day and coming back to my dorm and doing what I want," said Bonnie Bailey. Throughout the semester mice were found scurrying around and glitter seemed to be raining down. As the first semester came to a close, freshmen found out what dead week was all about and seniors found their last semester of college to be somewhat sentimental. "It was bittersweet because as a senior I got to choose things that I had always wanted to do but at MCC like, have my own suite. But I also knew that everything was coming to an end and this was going to be the last time for a lot of things," said Amanda Harrison.

"Johnson Hall is great. There is always someone with their door open ready to play FIFA or engage in a discussion about their faith. I cannot imagine a better place to have lived my first three years of college."

"Went from having one brother to having 100 brothers. Went from having one close friend to having eight close friends."

"Johnson Hall will always have a special place in my heart. The friendships I've made in the dorm will last a life time."

How would you describe a large amount of freshmen and sophomore men living in one, make that two buildings together? Maybe a little smelly at times, but definitely an amazing experience. This past year there was 92 men that lived between Johnson Hall and "The Beck." There were lots of crazy things like stupid olympics and fight nights that happened in Johnson Hall, but if you can see through the craziness you would see a brotherhood like no other. These men became a community of maturing Christian leaders that supported each other academically and, most importantly, spiritually.

Academics

Jamie McAfoos

"Asking one of my teachers in high school to pray for the class would have been a joke, but in the classrooms of MCC prayer is first priority. Can I get an Amen!"

Jacob Carlson

"Manhattan Christian College gave me an unexpected education in perseverance, forming my own opinions, and most of all, realizing just how much I don't know."

Matt Lietzen

"Classes are great. It's awesome to have the opportunity to ask honest questions, discuss various theological and ministerial topics, plus receive genuine answers and gritty dialogue."

In the midst of all the parties, pranking, devos, and late night shenanigans there is another priority here at MCC...academics. The mission of Manhattan Christian College is to educate, equip, and enrich Christian leaders and the students take this serious by soaking up as much knowledge as they can from our seasoned professors. When asked about the professors at MCC, most students respond with, "my professors really care about me and my future." We are truly blessed at this institution with professors who are well trained and who do their very best to help fulfill the school's mission.

Women's Soccer

Michelle Brooks

"True champions aren't always the ones who win, but those with the most guts."

Logan Pittman

"The season was interesting. The team was mostly freshman and seniors and we got a new coach. We came together, played as a team, and did what we needed to make it to Nationals."

Jenn Giannina

"There are never enough words to explain the season and the team. We're simply amazing."

Men's Soccer

Kris Morrison

"This years season was a period of growth. We struggled, we succeeded; it was a battle all season, but most of all we saw leadership on the field come from some of the most unexpected players."

Nathan Love

"Rick told us every year that we would grow as players and grow as men. After four years, I can look back and say that this truly did happen."

Jordan Murphy

"It was a good year, a little disappointing in how it ended, but I can't wait to see how the team represents the long blue line next year."

Cross Country

Rachel Ochoa

Isaac Wilson

Staci Dole

"Our cross country team was more like a family who helped each other get through more than workouts and challenged us to grow in our faith."

"For being only our second year, and having both teams finish in the top five is a great accomplishment."

"My favorite part of the season was probably getting to know people and also seeing improvements in myself and in the team."

Manda Ryn and Codi Morris are now one step closer to their wedding!

Graduation

Elise Drennan

"It has been a great four years here at Manhattan Christian College. I appreciate the friends I met and the memories that we made together."

Andrew Gibbons

"Thanks to Eric Sanford and many other people at the college, it has been a great time here. I will miss this place."

Amanda Harrison

"We'll be friends forever. "

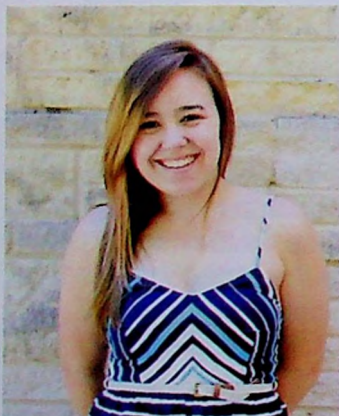

May 5, 2012...the day these Manhattan Christian College graduates have anticipated for four or even five years. Graduation was a time of joyful celebration for all, but mainly for the graduates, their families, faculty and staff. The graduates from the class of 2012 can stand proud as they reflect back on their years at Manhattan Christian College. They have endured many hours of studying, reading, writing, cramming, and of course playing. This years Commencement attendees were honored to hear a message from one of our very on...Dr. Rick Wright. Dr. Wright is himself a 1976 graduate of MCC and has been the Vice President of Student Life since 1989. Every graduation is a time to honor the accomplishments of the graduates and to pray for their future as they move on to serve the Kingdom.
